

BASIC EQUIPMENT LIST 2022:06

The basic equipment list refers to the list of basic equipment that must be available in the Object in order to meet SkiStar's rental standards. The Object must be adapted to the number of guests and the number of beds in the Object Description, as described below. The Object must also have the functions and capacity that a guest can expect from the equipment that the Object has in accordance with the Object Description. The number of beds that can be sold in the Object is determined by SkiStar based on the Object's conditions.

Keys

- At least 4 sets of keys to the Object must be provided to SkiStar by the Owner before rental.

See detailed information about number of keys in the Owner pages, it varies between destinations, 4-8 keys. Please consult SkiStar staff before changing locks to a key-pad version. Not all are compatible or suitable to rental.

Living room

- The Object's living room should have seating in the form of a sofa/armchairs in relation to all standard beds (a pouf/stool is sufficient per extra bed). Use furniture pads to protect the floor.
- If there is an open fire/stove, a brush and dustpan must be provided.

Kitchen/dining area

- The kitchen/dining area of the Object must have at least the same number of seats as the number beds in the lodging (including any extra beds).
- A fridge, freezer, cooker, oven and dishwasher must be provided, and they must have capacity in relation to the number of beds.
 - Microwave incl. lid

Private belongings

Each lodging is unique, but should not be decorated with personal items and photos. Avoid decorative items, fabrics and rugs that can collect dust or break. Any private belongings must be stored at the Owner's risk in locked storage areas. SkiStar is not responsible for private belongings.

General recommendations

Choose durable materials that can withstand rental use, such as good quality floors, walls that can be wiped down, sturdy furniture, washable fabrics - not light or delicate.

For tips on rental suppliers of furniture and porcelain, as well as estimated lifetime of furniture and decor and recommended renovation intervals, see the Owner Pages.
